“ I’ve known Henry for the better part of my life. I actually met Henry through his wife Jan many years ago. Jan and I both worked at “Twin Fair” in the old Delfair shopping center- although, Jan would probably say she worked there and I was just employed.

Henry and I became fast friends. We went on vacations to Vegas and Mexico, on cruises, Nascar races and quite a few boys nights out on Friday nights.

On those Fridays, Henry and I would often stop at White Castles at the end of the night. I guess we were quite a cut-up (in a good way). For a period of time White Castles was giving away “Indian hats” as a promotion for the children that ate there. Well, whenever Henry and I walked through the doors, they knew us by name and always made sure we had our Indian hats to wear ... and of course, we did. I really think they looked forward to seeing us.

Henry loved to workout. I’m not sure how this ever transpired, but it was often weaved into conversation with the waiter or waitress at the end of the night. I would always ask, how old do you think he (Henry) is and how old do you think I am. The answers were almost always the same. Henry was guessed 10 years younger than he was - and I was 5 years older than I was. It made me so mad but Henry loved it.

To this day, I still have a hard time believing we pulled this one off. After a Nascar trip to Florida, we were returning home and at the airport. We had a bit of beer left in a cooler. Rather than disposing of it, we just said heck with it and sent it through the security check. The cooler fit under our seat and we drank the last of our beer on the way home.

And chicken wings... Henry and I loved our chicken wings. We were the only two guys that went to Hooters, actually for the chicken wings. I remember, we always split an order of 50 wings. How in the world we ate all of those is beyond me. But we did.

Henry had a big appetite, but even a bigger heart. When you were with Henry, life was great. I will cherish my friendship and memories with Henry forever.

“ I worked with Terry for over 30 years and we shared many laughs together and he will always be my friend. I won't say goodbye but rather "until we meet again, good buddy."

Remember that life and love are eternal so know that death is not the end and that Terry will ALWAYS be with you in spirit and see all your ups and downs. I know you will experience sorrow and loss because we are still of this earth and human but Terry is Finally Home and out of pain, bathed in the divine love of the Lord and probably dancing with the angels!

Our thoughts and prayers will be with you and God Bless,

“ Aunt Jan, Joe, Greg, Wendy and Lisa,

I am so sorry for your loss. Uncle Terry was very special to me. I have so many fond memories of him from the reunions to parties at your house. I know that he is in a better place without the pain and suffering. You will all be in my prayers. Love to you all.
